

CACHE HOUSE

QUICK FACTS

General Overview

Nestled in the heart of Jackson, Wyoming, Cache House is a modern, elevated interpretation of the classic European hostel. More than a place to rest, it's a chance to commune with nature and meet like-minded travelers as hungry for off-the-beaten-path experiences as they are about sharing them. The well-appointed property features 50 individual bunks ranging from queen- to twin-sized beds. Each bunk offers guests a personal refuge complete with a privacy curtain, reading light, secure storage drawer and comfortable linens, while guests have access to private bathrooms and showers. A spacious common area serves as a place for guests to gather, share stories of the day's adventures and unwind. Glorietta, an Italian trattoria featuring a seasonally rotating menu of handmade pasta, woodfired dishes and exceptional beverage programming is just a short walk away, and gourmet, made-to-order breakfast is available at the nearby Alpine House. Cache House guests can also take advantage of a variety of recreational activities thoughtfully curated by the director of experiences and guest culture, many of which are available at sister property Turpin Meadow Ranch.

Design	Designed by Brooklyn-based Studio Tack, Cache House boasts a bright, clean aesthetic and eminently functional space intended to provide everything a guest could want. Thoughtfully designed bunks offer refuge with privacy curtains, reading lights, quality linens and built-in storage. The spacious common area features a range of custom and high-end furniture and considered lighting serving as a place to gather.
Location	Jackson is the West's famous gateway to Grand Teton and Yellowstone National Parks. The 42-mile-long valley between the Teton and Gros Ventre mountains includes the towns of Jackson, Teton Village, Kelly, Wilson, Moran, Moose and Hoback Junction. Home to Jackson Hole Mountain Resort, one of the top-rated ski and snowboard destinations in the world, Jackson Hole offers a host of winter activities including skiing and snowboarding, snowmobiling, snowshoeing and more. Springtime gives way to rafting adventures, and during the summer, the area is known for its alpine hikes, mountain biking trails, epic wildlife viewing and more. In the fall, golden leaves illuminate the valley floor and jagged, snow-capped peaks provide views unlike anywhere else in the world. In town, cultural experiences abound, and the destination features several art galleries, historic playhouses and music venues. Jackson also offers a world-class dining scene and incredible boutique shopping.
Access	Cache House is easily accessible from Jackson Hole Airport (JAC), which provides a range of direct flight options from major airlines such as Alaska Airlines, American Airlines, Delta and United Airlines. The only commercial airport within national park boundaries, Jackson Hole Airport is located 9 miles from the town square, making it one of the most accessible airports in the Rockies. Jackson also has an excellent public bus system called START (Southern Teton Area Rapid Transit), which offers free bus rides within town and affordable rides out to Teton Village, south to Star Valley, or west to Teton Valley, Idaho. Both Jackson and Teton County have an extensive bicycle/pedestrian pathway network, making it even easier to get around town.
